U.S. Department of Commerce & International Trade Administration

The International Trade Administration (ITA), under the U.S. Department of Commerce, creates prosperity by strengthening the competitiveness of U.S. industry, promoting trade and investment, and ensuring fair trade and compliance with trade laws and agreements. ITA helps equip those businesses with the knowledge and tools that they need to meet that exporting challenge, and by extension, promote the trade and investment that helps us all. Further, ITA advances policies and strategies that stimulate innovation and investment, enhance economic growth, and support U.S. manufacturing and services industries.
